LEAD US NOT INTO MARSHMALLOW TEMPTATION

Author Unknown

four-year-olds interact with a marshmallow.

The researcher invites the children, one by one, into a plain room and begins the gentle torment. "You can have this marshmallow right now," he says. "But, if you wait while I run an errand, you can have two marshmallows when I get back."

And then he leaves the room.

Some grab the marshmallow the minute he's out the door. Some last a few minutes before they give in.

Others are determined to wait. They cover their eyes; they put their heads down; they sing to themselves; they try to play games or even fall asleep.

When the researcher returns, he gives these children their two hard-earned marshmallows.

Then, science waits for the children to grow. By the time these children reach high school, something remarkable has happened. A survey of the children's parents and teachers finds that those who as four-year-olds had the fortitude to hold out for the second marshmallow generally grew up to be better adjusted, more popular, adventurous, confident, and dependable teenagers.

The children who gave in to temptation early on were more likely to be lonely, easily frustrated, and stubborn. They buckled under stress and shied away from challenges.

When some of the students in the two groups took the Scholastic Aptitude Test (SAT), the children who had held out longer scored an average of 210 points higher.

The ability to resist temptation—to delay gratification and to control one's urges—is one of life's great success skills. Life calls for vigilance. Temptation is always at hand. But remember, we are never alone.

"There hath no temptation taken you but such as is common to man: but God is faithful, Who will not suffer you to be tempted above that ye are able; but will with the temptation also make a way to escape, that ye may be able to bear it." – 1 Corinthians 10:13

The famous Marshmallow Experiment is very interesting, and the implications are staggering. It seems that a scientist can see the future by watching

THE BIBLE: WHAT A BOOK!

Author Unknown

This book contains the mind of God, the state of man, the way of salvation, the doom of sinners, and the happiness of believers. Its doctrines are holy, its precepts are binding, its histories are true, and its decisions are immutable. Read it to be wise, believe it to be safe, and practice it to be holy.

It contains light to direct you, food to support you, and comfort to cheer you. It is the traveler's map, the pilgrim's staff, the pilot's compass, the soldier's sword, and the Christian's charter. Here paradise is restored, heaven opened, and the gates of hell disclosed. Christ is its grand subject, our good its design, and the glory of God its end. It should fill the memory, test the heart, and guide the feet. Read it slowly, frequently, prayerfully.

George Whitefield said, "God has condescended to become an author; and yet people will not read His writings. There are very few that ever gave this Book of God, the grand charter of salvation, one fair reading through."

A MERRY HEART DOETH GOOD

CROSSWORDS & INK PENS

Jim Brademas

I found a new young doctor for my 90-year-old mother, whose family physician had died. After examining her, the doctor called us into his office and, ignoring Mother, proceeded to give me the results.

Mother interrupted and said, "Doctor, do you do crossword puzzles?"

"Yes, I do," he replied.

She then asked, "Do you do them with pencil or pen?"

"Why, with a pencil," replied the doctor.

"Well, I do mine with a pen," said Mother. "So you can talk to me."
